

EKU Biological Sciences

Spring 2018 Seminar Series

Feb 16	Dr. Mark Farman University of Kentucky	The world of the end as we know it: Telomeres in the blast fungus
Feb 23	Tom Saielli American Chestnut Foundation	Canceled
Mar 2	Dr. James Beck Wichita State University	Next-generation sampling: How herbarium specimens can accelerate studies of plant diversity, biogeography, & evolution
Mar 9	Grace Coy & Nic Williamson	The University of Kentucky's Urban Forest Initiative
Mar 16	Spring Break	Spring Break
Mar 23	Dr. Rebecca McCulley University of Kentucky	Grass-fungal interactions: The good, the bad, & the ugly
Mar 26 Monday! SCIBD 3101	Dr. James Lendemer NY Botanical Garden	Appalachian Lichens: Insights on ecologically important symbioses from the field to the genome & beyond (BOGS's Choice Speaker)
Apr 6	Jake Hutton University of Kentucky	Plethodontid stream salamander occupancy, abundance, & diet along a conductivity gradient
Apr 13	Elizabeth Loh Ecohealth Alliance / EKU	Land-use change & disease emergence: Dynamics at the human-animal interface
Apr 20	Dr. Rob Naczi NY Botanical Garden	Conservation challenges in the flora of the northeastern USA & adjacent Canada
Apr 27	Dr. Chuck Lane U.S. Environmental Protection Agency	Landscape conservation of aquatic habitats promotes watershed-scale biological, biogeochemical, & hydrological functions
May 4	BIOS Awards Day	BIOS Awards Day

Please join us at 11:05 for coffee & refreshments.
Seminars begin at 11:15 in Science Building #2221.