

EKU Biological Sciences Fall 2014 Seminar Series

DATE	SPEAKER	TOPIC
Oct 3	Tara Littlefield, MS Kentucky State Nature Preserves Commission	Overview of Kentucky's plant conservation program
Oct 10	Thomas Schuler, PhD USDA Forest Service	Sustaining forests through research on the Fernow Experimental Forest in West Virginia
Oct 17	Matthew Gentry, PhD University of Kentucky	Studying neurodegenerative disease in cells, mice....and plants?
Oct 24	Grayson Brown, PhD University of Kentucky	The mosquitoes of Kentucky: From Canada to bubbleland
Oct 31	Mark Farman, PhD University of Kentucky	Telomere roles in fungal genome evolution
Nov 7	Rebekah Taylor, PhD Frostburg State University	It's all in your gut: Dynamic lymphoid tissues in the small intestine
Nov 21	Bill Sutton, PhD University of Tennessee	Vulnerability assessments of amphibian and reptile biodiversity hotspots
Dec 5	Sarah Hall, PhD Berea College	Does endophyte infection of tall fescue pasture alter potential mycorrhizal colonization of native species commonly planted in grassland restorations?

Please join us at 11:00 for coffee & refreshments.
Seminar begins at 11:15 in Moore 107